

Understood.

You want a FULL, CLEAR, MOVIE-STYLE STORY that shows:

- ✓ Who ruled before the Mughals (predecessors)
- ✓ How exactly the Mughals entered
- ✓ Each ruler's story with their CONTEMPORARIES
- ✓ What wars they fought, against whom, why
- ✓ What was happening in Deccan, Rajputana, Bengal, Gujarat side at the same time
- ✓ The logical flow of how the empire expanded + declined
- ✓ Painting techniques (like "Nauras/Naturalism" under Jahangir)
- ✓ Who came after the Mughals (successors)
- ✓ All told like a FILM, but EXAM-RELEVANT

I will now give you the most clear, continuous, story-style explanation of the ENTIRE MUGHAL AGE, exactly the way toppers remember it.

★ THE GRAND STORY OF THE MUGHAL EMPIRE (Like a Movie)

(From Predecessors → Mughals → Successors)

PROLOGUE — BEFORE MUGHALS: WHAT INDIA LOOKED LIKE?

Before Babur arrived, India was NOT united.

There were 5 major powers, scattered and fighting:

1. Delhi Sultanate (North India) – Lodi Dynasty

- Last powerful ruler: Ibrahim Lodi
- Unpopular with Afghan nobles
- Delhi politics weak
- Internal conflicts rising

2. Rajput Kingdoms (Rajasthan)

- Led by Rana Sanga of Mewar
- Very strong warrior confederacy
- Wanted to dominate North India
- Hoped to replace Lodis

3. Afghans (Eastern India)

- Bengal & Bihar had strong Afghan chiefs
- They were never loyal to Delhi
- One powerful Afghan: Sher Khan (later Sher Shah Suri) rising in Bihar

4. Deccan Sultanates (South-Central India)

- Ahmednagar
- Bijapur
- Golconda
- Bidar
- Berar

These were constantly fighting among themselves.

5. Vijayanagara Empire (South India)

- Very powerful under Krishna Deva Raya
- Cultural and military giant in South India

India was politically fragmented — the perfect moment for a new power to enter.

ACT 1 — BABUR: HOW THE MUGHALS ENTER INDIA (1526–1530)

Babur was NOT interested in India initially.

He wanted Samarkand, his ancestral seat in Central Asia.

But Uzbek leader Shaibani Khan kicked him out repeatedly.

Babur had:

- No safe homeland
- No powerful allies
- A strong army skilled in gunpowder, matchlocks, artillery

He looked East → India.

✓ Opponents Babur faced:

- Ibrahim Lodi (North India)
- Rana Sanga (Rajputana)
- Afghan confederacy in East

✓ Three Gangster-Level Battles

1. Panipat (1526) → beats Ibrahim Lodi
2. Khanwa (1527) → beats Rana Sanga
3. Ghagra (1529) → beats Afghans

After this, Babur's position is safe.

Contemporaries in India

- Rana Sanga in Rajputana
- Krishna Deva Raya in Vijayanagara
- Deccan Sultanates still independent

Babur dies in 1530 → Mughal seed planted.

ACT 2 — HUMAYUN: THE FALL & RETURN (1530–1540 & 1555–56)

Humayun inherits a huge but UNSTABLE empire.

His three enemies:

1. Afghans (Bengal–Bihar) led by Sher Khan (Sher Shah Suri)

Sher Khan was a military genius.

2. His own brothers (Kamran, Hindal)

They wanted independent kingdoms.

3. Rajputs still strong in Rajasthan

Humayun wins small battles ...

...but Sher Khan rises too fast.

Climax: Battle of Chausa (1539) & Kannauj (1540)

Humayun loses everything.

Forced into Persian exile.

Contemporaries during Humayun's exile

- Sher Shah Suri becomes emperor
- His Sur Empire reforms India massively
- Vijayanagara still strong
- Deccan sultanates still unstable
- Rajputs regaining strength

✓ Humayun Returns (1555)

Persian king Shah Tahmasp helps Humayun with troops.
He returns, defeats Afghans, takes back Delhi.

But fate hits —
Humayun slips on library stairs and dies (1556).

ACT 3 — AKBAR: THE REAL CREATOR OF THE EMPIRE (1556–1605)

Akbar is only 13 years old.
Regent is Bairam Khan.

✓ First major moment

2nd Battle of Panipat (1556) → Hemu defeated → Mughal survival confirmed.

✓ Challenge: North India full of rivals

- Afghans in Bihar
- Rajputs in Rajasthan
- Gujarat sultans
- Bengal sultans
- Kashmir kings
- Deccan sultanates
- Sikhs rising
- Portuguese in western coast

Akbar does complete political engineering.

★ AKBAR'S FIVE BIG MOVES (Understood as Logic, Not Facts)

1. Rajput Strategy

He does NOT fight Rajputs.

He makes them allies (marriage, high mansabs).

Only fights Mewar (Rana Pratap) & Marwar.

2. Administration

- Mansabdari (rank system)
- Jagirdari
- Zabt revenue by Todar Mal
- Centralised but flexible government

3. Religion Policy

- Abolishes Jizya
- Starts Sulh-i-Kul (peace for all)
- Ibadat Khana debates
- Din-i-llahi (never successful)

4. Expansion Everywhere

- Gujarat
- Bengal
- Bihar
- Rajasthan
- Kabul
- Kashmir
- Sindh
- Begins Deccan conquests

5. Culture

- Creates Mughal Painting School
- Fatehpur Sikri built
- Buland Darwaza
- Agra Fort

Major Contemporaries

- Maharana Pratap in Mewar
- Chatrapati Shivaji's grandfather Maloji Bhosale rising in Deccan
- Portuguese at Goa
- Bijapur, Golconda sultans in Deccan
- Sikh Gurus (3rd to 5th)

Akbar dies 1605 → Mughal Empire strongest ever.

ACT 4 — JAHANGIR: THE PAINTER'S EMPEROR (1605–1627)

Jahangir loved nature, paintings, justice, wine.

★ Painting revolution under Jahangir

Technique: NATURALISM

- Realistic animals, birds, portraits
- Ustad Mansur = Michelangelo of bird painting
- Fine shading, depth
- European techniques introduced via Jesuit missionaries

This is what you meant by "new speed talk" — Jahangir's love for fast, sharp, natural depiction.

✓ Politics

- Rajputs fully loyal
- Mewar submits
- Marriage to Nur Jahan → she becomes powerful
- British begin entry: Sir Thomas Roe (1615)

✓ Contemporaries

- Malik Ambar in Deccan (guerrilla warfare master)
 - Jahangir ruled when Shah Jahan became the best military general
 - Deccan sultanates still independent
 - Sikh Guru Arjan Dev executed

🎬 ACT 5 — SHAH JAHAN: GOLDEN AGE OF ARCHITECTURE (1628–1658)

Empire rich, powerful, peaceful.

✓ Major Works

- Taj Mahal
- Red Fort
- Jama Masjid
- Peacock Throne
- Town planning, marble age

✓ Contemporaries

- Deccan sultanates hostile
- Portuguese defeated
- English expand trade
- Sikh Guru Hargobind rising militarily
- Marathas becoming a small power
- Nadir Shah in Persia still not a threat (comes later)

✓ End of his rule

War of succession among his sons:

- Dara Shikoh
- Aurangzeb
- Murad
- Shuja

Aurangzeb wins → imprisons Shah Jahan.

ACT 6 — AURANGZEB: EXPANSION + EXHAUSTION (1658–1707)

Aurangzeb takes the empire to its largest size, but breaks its political spine.

✓ His Big Wars

1. Rajput rebellions
2. Sikh wars (Guru Tegh Bahadur executed)
3. Maratha War – 27 years, drains treasury
4. Deccan Conquest – Bijapur & Golconda annexed

5. Jats, Satnamis, Afghans rebels

✓ Policies

- Reimposes Jizya
- Bans music at court (not in society)
- Centralisation worsens
- No political flexibility like Akbar

✓ Contemporaries

- Shivaji → Sambhaji → Rajaram → Tarabai
- Sikh Gurus (6th to 9th)
- European companies growing
- Rajput rulers like Jaswant Singh, Ajit Singh

Aurangzeb dies 1707 → empire without strong spine → cracks open.

ACT 7 — LATER MUGHALS (1707–1857)

Weak rulers under control of:

- Wazirs
- Nobles (Turani, Irani, Hindustani)
- Marathas
- Nadir Shah (1739)
- Ahmad Shah Abdali (1750s)

✓ Last Mughal: Bahadur Shah Zafar (1837–1857)

- Figurehead
 - Supported 1857 Revolt
 - Exiled to Rangoon
 - Mughal Empire officially ends

EPILOGUE — WHO WERE SUCCESSORS AFTER MUGHALS?

After Mughals collapsed:

1. Marathas became dominant (1720–1761)
 2. British East India Company takes political power gradually
 3. Sikhs (under Ranjit Singh) controlled Punjab
 4. Nizams, Nawabs became semi-independent
 5. 1857 → British Crown takes full control
